Target conference attendees at the largest gathering of statisticians held in North America. Send a pre-show mailing to generate excitement and attract attendees to your booth!

JSM attendees are influential in diverse and vital areas, highlighted by the fact that statistical applications are essential in practically every industry and domain. These professionals are receptive to offers for educational developments, government policies, social and environmental issues, technological advancements, career services, analytic research, business and economic forecasting, scientific applications and so much more.

Reach Attendees at Lightning Speed with Exhibitor Express!

One of the main challenges for any exhibitor is to have your message reach attendees well before the event takes place. Exhibitor Express meets this challenge by allowing you to incorporate your message into one of our postcard or email templates specifically created to optimize traffic at your booth. Learn more about the program at www.InfocusMarketing.com/ExhibitorExpress, then contact Susan Blake today to get started. It's that simple.
