

CHARTER OF THE
SECTION ON STATISTICAL EDUCATION
(Revised 2001)

Article I. NAME

The name of this organization is the Section on Statistical Education of the American Statistical Association (hereafter called the Association).

Article II. OBJECTIVES

The Section on Statistical Education is broadly interested in the effective use of education as a means (1) of improving the quality of existing applications of statistics and (2) of increasing the use of statistics in those areas of study where it offers the most efficient procedure for attacking unsolved problems.

In considering these objectives, the Section recognizes that education in statistics can be obtained either "on the job" or in educational institutions. Furthermore, the Section distinguishes four levels of statistical education:

1. Education of individuals who will not necessarily use statistical methods professionally but who should at least appreciate the nature of good statistical inquiries and summaries.
2. Education of individuals working in a subject-matter field other than statistics to the point where they can evaluate the application of recognized statistical methods reported in their professional literature and can make use of statistical techniques in their own work.
3. Education of individuals working in a subject-matter field other than statistics to the point where they can creatively apply statistical techniques to work in the field.
4. Education of individuals who wish to pursue careers as statisticians.

The Section on Statistical Education will engage in activities appropriate to the pursuit of the goals set forth above including, but not limited to:

1. Dissemination of information on
 - a. short courses
 - b. standard training programs
 - c. bibliography (textbooks, monographs, etc.)
 - d. teaching aids
 - e. new developments in statistical education
2. Organization of programs

- a. meetings of national societies
 - b. summer seminars or workshops for teachers
