These are rankings derived from the US News & World Report rankings (<http://grad-schools.usnews.rankingsandreviews.com/best-graduate-schools/top-statistics-schools/rankings/>). They are for US Departments of Statistics that have granted at least one Ph.D. in each of the past five years.

RNP denotes departments for which there was insufficient information to provide a ranking.

Additional information, including the scores and methodology are available at the US News site referenced above.
